

Early Journal Content on JSTOR, Free to Anyone in the World

This article is one of nearly 500,000 scholarly works digitized and made freely available to everyone in the world by JSTOR.

Known as the Early Journal Content, this set of works include research articles, news, letters, and other writings published in more than 200 of the oldest leading academic journals. The works date from the mid-seventeenth to the early twentieth centuries.

We encourage people to read and share the Early Journal Content openly and to tell others that this resource exists. People may post this content online or redistribute in any way for non-commercial purposes.

Read more about Early Journal Content at <http://about.jstor.org/participate-jstor/individuals/early-journal-content>.

JSTOR is a digital library of academic journals, books, and primary source objects. JSTOR helps people discover, use, and build upon a wide range of content through a powerful research and teaching platform, and preserves this content for future generations. JSTOR is part of ITHAKA, a not-for-profit organization that also includes Ithaka S+R and Portico. For more information about JSTOR, please contact support@jstor.org.

Cornell Studies in Philosophy

Under the above title a series of monograph studies will be published from time to time as representative of the work done in the philosophical departments of Cornell University. These monographs will be issued under the general editorial supervision of the professors of these departments, and will be composed of certain theses which have been accepted for the Doctor's degree at Cornell University, and in some cases of more prolonged studies which have been carried on by graduates of the Sage School of Philosophy.

The following numbers have already been issued :—

- No. 1. Some Problems of Lotze's Theory of Knowledge. By EDWIN PROCTOR ROBINS, late Scholar and Fellow of Cornell University. With a biographical introduction by J. E. CREIGHTON.—pp. vii, 108. 75 cents net.
- No. 2. Brahman : A Study of Indian Philosophy. By HERVEY DEWITT GRISWOLD, A.B., Ph.D., Professor of Philosophy in the Forman Christian College, Lahore, India.—pp. viii, 89. 75 cents net.
- No. 3. The Philosophy of Friedrich Nietzsche. By GRACE NEAL DOLSON, A.B., Ph.D., Professor of Philosophy in Wells College.—pp. 110. [Out of print.]
- No. 4. The Ethical Aspect of Lotze's Metaphysics. By VIDA F. MOORE, M.S., Ph.D., Professor of Philosophy in Elmira College.—pp. iv, 101. Price 75 cents net.
- No. 5. Maine de Biran's Philosophy of Will. By NATHAN E. TRUMAN, A.B., Ph.D., Sometime Fellow in Cornell University.—pp. v, 93. Price 75 cents net.
- No. 6. The Philosophy of F. H. Jacobi. By ALEXANDER W. CRAWFORD, A.M., Ph.D., Professor in the Western University of Pennsylvania.—pp. 90. Price 75 cents net.
- No. 7. The Fundamental Principle of Fichte's Philosophy. By ELLEN BLISS TALBOT, A.B., Ph.D., Professor of Philosophy in Mt. Holyoke College.—pp. 140. Price $1.00 net.
-

PUBLISHED BY

LONGMANS, GREEN & COMPANY

91-93 Fifth Avenue

NEW YORK

London Longmans, Green & Co.

CORNELL UNIVERSITY SAGE SCHOOL OF PHILOSOPHY.

J. G. Schurman, A.M., D.Sc., LL.D., President. J. E. Creighton, A.B., Ph.D., LL.D., Professor of Logic and Metaphysics. E. B. Titchener, D.Sc. Ph.D., LL.D., Professor of Psychology. Frank Thilly, A.B., Ph.D., LL.D., Professor of Philosophy. W. A. Hammond, A.M., Ph.D., Professor of Ancient and Mediæval Philosophy. Ernest Albee, A.B., Ph.D., Professor of Philosophy. I. M. Bentley, B.S., Ph.D., Assistant Professor of Psychology. E. H. Hollands, A.B., Ph.D., Instructor in Philosophy. C. H. Williams, A.B., Assistant in Philosophy. L. R. Geissler, B.L., Ph.D., Instructor in Psychology. W. H. Pyle, A.B., Assistant in Psychology.

COURSES OF LECTURES.

I. LOGIC.—(1) Elements of Logic; (2) Logic and the Methods of the Sciences; (3) Seminary in the Modern Developments of Logical Theory.

II. PSYCHOLOGY.—(1) Outlines of Psychology; (2) Advanced Psychology (including Experimental and Physiological Psychology); (3) Psychological Seminary and Laboratory.

III. ETHICS.—(1) Elements of Ethics; (2) Christian Ethics; (3) Fundamental Problems of Ethics; (4) History of Ethics; (5) Practical or Applied Ethics; (6) Ethical Seminary.

IV. HISTORY AND PHILOSOPHY OF RELIGION.—(1) History of Religion; (2) Philosophy of Religion.

V. METAPHYSICS AND EPISTEMOLOGY.—(1) Systematic Theory of Knowledge; (2) Rationalism and Empiricism; (3) Intuitionism and Criticism; (4) Metaphysical Seminary.

VI. HISTORY OF PHILOSOPHY.—(1) Greek Philosophy (including the Alexandrian and Roman); (2) The Writings and Philosophy of Plato and Aristotle; (3) Mediæval Philosophy; (4) Modern Philosophy; (5) Contemporary Philosophy in Germany, France, and Great Britain; (6) Current Philosophical Literature.

VII. RELATED COURSES IN OTHER DEPARTMENTS.—(1) Chemistry and Chemical Philosophy; (2) Systematic Physics and Ultimate Physical Theories; (3) Physiology and Biology (including Morphology of the Brain); (4) The Higher Literature of Greece and Germany; (5) Political Science (including Social Institutions), Political Economy, Roman Law and International Law; (6) The Private, Political, and Religious Life and Institutions of the Hindus, Greeks, and Romans; (7) The Science and Art of Education.

The Courses in the School of Philosophy are intended partly for undergraduates in Cornell University who desire a general acquaintance with the elements of the philosophical sciences, but mainly for graduates of this and other institutions who are preparing themselves for public positions (clergymen, teachers, professors, etc.) and who can give a protracted period of time (not less, it is recommended, than two, three, or four years), to exclusive study and investigation of some of the subjects embraced in the School of Philosophy. For the Master's degree at least one year of residence is always, and for the Doctor's degree at least three years of residence are normally required. The School awards annually to distinguished graduates of Cornell and other universities, three fellowships of $500 each, and six scholarships of $300 each. The scholarships are intended for college graduates who, during their undergraduate course or subsequently, have given evidence of special attainments in Philosophy, or in any of its branches. The fellowships are intended for graduate students of one or more years' standing, with high records, in the best American or foreign universities. The School is provided with a new and richly equipped Psychological Laboratory. Besides the University Library, which is well supplied with philosophical books, there is in the Library building, for the exclusive use of graduate students in Philosophy, a large and appropriately furnished seminary room with a carefully selected special library. The School receives regularly all the important philosophical journals published both at home and abroad. For further information address The Registrar, Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y.

LONGMANS, GREEN & CO.'S NEW BOOKS

CHAPTERS ON MUNICIPAL ADMINISTRATION AND ACCOUNTING

By FREDERICK A. CLEVELAND, Ph.D., Director of the Bureau of Municipal Research, New York City; Professor of Finance in New York University; Author of "The Bank and the Treasury," "Railroad Promotion and Capitalization in the United States," etc. Crown 8vo, pp. xvi-361. $2.00 net; by mail, $2.14.

While the twenty-one chapters of the book are not presented as a systematic treatise on this, perhaps the greatest problem of modern times, each subject covered is important in itself and the concept permits of concreteness and a local color that otherwise would be lost. The qualifications of the author for writing such a book are ample in that for years he has been closely associated with municipal work—first as secretary of the committee on accounts and statistics of the National Municipal League, later as a member of the Mayor's advisory committee on finance and taxation of the City of New York, still later as one of the organizers and as director of the bureau of municipal research which for three years has been making a field study of American municipalities, giving special attention to the City of New York, but having staffs at work in other cities as well. The chapters are at once critical and constructive.

RAILROAD PROMOTION AND CAPITALIZATION IN THE UNITED STATES

By FREDERICK A. CLEVELAND, Ph.D., and FRED W. POWELL, A.M.
Crown 8vo, pp. xiv-368. $2.00 net. By mail, $2.14.

CONTENTS: Chapter 1. The First Era of Transportation Development in the United States. 2. The Embargo, the Second War with Great Britain, and Their Effect upon Transportation Development. 3. The Beginning of the Railroad. 4. The Effect of Early Experiments on Popular and Investment Opinion. 5. The Economic Basis of Transportation Development. 6. State Funding of Transportation Enterprise. 7. Rivalry Between Trade Centres in its Relation to Promotion and Capitalization. 8. Promotion of Private Companies. 9. Reconnaissance and Surveys. 10. Legislative Provisions as an Element in Promotion and Capitalization. 11. Methods of Appeal for Financial Support. 12. Individual and Local Subsidies to Private Companies. 13. State Aid to Private Companies. 14. The Reaction Against State and Local Subsidies. 15. National Aid to Private Companies. 16. Transcontinental Railroads. 17. Financial Institutions and Syndicates as Agencies of Capitalization. 18. Biography.

THE INDUSTRIAL SYSTEM: An Inquiry into Earned and Unearned Income

By J. A. HOBSON, Author of "The Evolution of Modern Capitalism," etc.
8vo, pp. xx-328. $2.50 net.

By means of an outline picture of the structure and working of modern industry the writer seeks to show how the distribution of wealth is actually effected, and what are the actual forces that determine how much goes in payment to landowners, capitalists, entrepreneurs, and laborers for the various services rendered by their "factors" of production.

THE BASIS OF ASCENDANCY: A Discussion of Certain Principles of Public Policy Involved in the Development of the Southern States.

By EDGAR GARDNER MURPHY, Author of "The Present South," "The Larger Life," etc. Crown 8vo. $1.50 net. By mail, $1.60.

While largely concerned with the principles of race-adjustment in the Southern States, this book has a direct bearing upon many of those broader problems of national and international policy which are so insistently presented in the increasing world-contact of the stronger and the weaker racial groups.

Deeply as the author is concerned as to the future of the negro, his chief interest is naturally in the South as a whole. The development of the weaker race is viewed in its relation to the sound and wholesome development of the stronger. In his chapters on "The Fate of the Strong," Mr. Murphy turns from the familiar study of the misfortunes of the negro to an analysis of the difficulties necessarily imposed upon the white population. He finds no remedy, however, in any of the counsels of bitterness or despair; and, in his later chapters, he indicates the direct relation of a policy of hopeful and consistent development, inclusive of all the elements of the population, to the real ascendancy of the South. His view of "ascendancy" is not based upon the old philosophies of repression, but is determined rather by the more modern conceptions of social service and of fundamental political achievement.

A PLURALISTIC UNIVERSE

Lectures on the Hibbert Foundation delivered at Oxford, 1908. 8vo, Net, $1.50.
By mail, $1.62.

The lectures in this volume were delivered under the title of "The Present Situation in Philosophy." In them the author vigorously criticizes the school of transcendental idealism, which began at Oxford under the influence of T. H. Green, forty years ago; and continues his well-known attempt to save empiricism and pluralism from the reproach under which, according to him, they unjustly lie, of being philosophies of irreligion and disintegration.

Longmans, Green & Co., Publishers

LONGMANS, GREEN & CO.'S NEW BOOKS

HUMAN ECONOMICS. Books I and II. Natural Economy and Cosmopolitan Economy.

By A. H. GIBSON, F.C.A. 8vo. Pp. viii+406. $3.50 net.

Through his experience of the actualities of production, distribution and finance in most branches of commercial life, the Author traces these back to their ultimate causes, and has been led to conclusions differing somewhat from those of the standard writers on Human Economics. The first portion of this book, Natural Economy, was published nine years ago.

INDUSTRIAL EFFICIENCY: A Comparative Study of Industrial Life in England, Germany, and America.

By ARTHUR SHADWELL, M.A., M.D. New and cheaper edition in one volume, with a Supplementary Chapter. Crown 8vo. Pp. xx+720. $2.00 net.

. In this edition Mr. Shadwell has allowed the original text to stand, but has added a supplementary chapter which embodies such new facts as indicate the movements in progress, and supplies such corrections as are necessary. One important correction of fact is supplied by the new statistical information; it concerns working-class rents in England and Germany, and is fully set out in the supplementary chapter.

"The most valuable and suggestive contribution to the living question of international competition that has yet been written."—Chamber of Commerce Journal, London.

THE ECONOMY AND TRAINING OF MEMORY

By HENRY J. WATT, Ph.D., Lecturer on Psychology in the University of Glasgow. Fcap. 8vo. Pp. viii+128. $0.50.

This little volume, written primarily for the use of teachers studying Psychology, will, it is hoped, be appreciated by all who desire to preserve and strengthen the faculty of memory. After a general introduction, the Author first discusses the Experimental Investigation of Memory. He then proceeds to deal with some general questions—e.g., as to whether all memory is mechanical, and goes on to enumerate the factors which influence memory, and incidentally how it can be trained and assisted. The following chapters are on "Mental Imagery" and "Thoughts," and the volume ends with a series of twenty-three rules for the Economy and Training of Memory.

THE ANNUAL REGISTER: A Review of Public Events at Home and Abroad for the Year 1908. 8vo. $6.00.

. Volumes of the "Annual Register" for the years 1863-1907 can still be had. Price, $6.00 each.

THE POLITICAL HISTORY OF ENGLAND

Written by various Authors under the direction and Editorship of the Rev. WILLIAM HUNT, D.Litt., President of the Royal Historical Society, and REGINALD LANE POOLE, M.A., LL.D., Editor of the English Historical Review. In 12 volumes, 8vo, each volume having its own index and two or more maps.

Vol. IX, from the Accession of Anne to the Death of George II (1702 to 1760). By I. S. LEADAM, M.A., formerly Fellow of Brasenose College, Oxford. With 8 maps. $2.60 net. Vols. I, II, III, IV, V, VII, X, XI and XII are now ready. Each, $2.60 net.

Longmans, Green & Co., Publishers

91 and 93 Fifth Avenue,

New York, N. Y.